ISLAMIC FICTION BOOKS DEFINITION

This refers to creative, imaginative, non-preachy fiction, written by Muslims and marketed primarily to Muslims. Islamic Fiction may be marketed to secular markets, too. The content of these books incorporates some religious content and themes, and may include non-fictionalized historical or factual Islamic content with or without direct reference to the Qur'an or the Sunnah of the Prophet (pbuh). The stories may also include modern, real life situations and moral dilemmas. Islamic Fiction may be written in many languages. Islamic Fiction books do not include any of the following Harmful Content:

- o vulgar language
- o sexually explicit content
- o unIslamic practices that are not identified as unIslamic
- o content that portrays Islam in a negative way

176 Pages, Paperback 5.5 x 8.5

Price $10.95 - Youth

Award Winning! The Visitors: Not everyone in Rose's family is happy about the two Saudi Arabian police officers staying at Grandma's house, but the officers' kind ways and good manners soon win the hearts of nine-year-old Rose and her grandparents. Rose and Grandma help the officers with English lessons and the officers share their culture and the Islamic religion. Rose is confused and worried by her dad's continued avoidance of Fahd and Abdul and his warnings to stay away from the masjid. How can she convince him Fahd and Abdul are nice, and that the masjid is not a dangerous place?

"I personally, plan to introduce these books in our Islamic school and also to donate them to our local library. Definitely recommend for your book shelves!"

Author Linda D. Delgado

ISBN 978-0-9767861-6-0

160 Pages, Paperback 5.5 x 8.5

Price: $10.95 - Youth

Award Winning! Hijab-Ez Friends: Rose's dad wants her to meet kids of different races, cultures and religions. He says her new school will be an adventure. No way! Only a grown-up would tell a kid that going to a new school is an adventure.

"I was writing because I had bought several of your books a few months ago. I purchased Islamic Rose Books 2 & 3 from you. I was able to purchase books 1 & 4 from Islamicbookstore.com. My dear friend Maqsud's family in Milwaukee has kind of adopted me as their own since I became a Muslim. All of his brother's children call me auntie. Anyway, I couldn't go to visit them this Eid so I sent gifts for all of the children. The oldest girl, Mahee is 10. I sent her all 4 of your Islamic Rose books for her Eid gift. Her grandma called me last night telling me how much Mahee loved them. She read one after another. She finished all four and is now re-reading them. Mahee is an avid reader, but she said these books were very special. I simply wanted to write and let you know how much she loved your books."

Price: $10.95 - Youth

"Folks, you have to check this one out. Islamic Rose Books are fun, wholesome and educational. We need more Islamic fiction titles like these as alternatives to the uninspiring literature some of our children are reading these days. Personally, I'm hooked to the books. I think even adults, especially those who are new to or clueless about Islam, will benefit from reading them. The stories read naturally, especially the conversations. I hope your books will do well and will certainly tell others about them."

-Salinah Aliman, Author, Singapore

Award Winning! Stories: Stories is a treasure chest of wonderful Islamic stories shared by the Muslim police officers from Saudi Arabia who are staying with Grandma. Each tale helps Rose, her family members, and Rose's Hijab-Ez friends, cope with challenges at school, at home and in daily life.

Echoes

Young Adult/Adult

When Joshua returns from Pakistan to his hometown of Chicago, his struggle begins. He must carry on in his new life as a practicing Muslim while facing difficulties from his past life: a bitter ex-wife, three children whom he abandoned, and strained relationships with his mother and two older brothers. Joshua makes the greatest jihad - the jihad of the self - as he struggles to overcome his past and become a true Muslim.

"This is an epic novel about love, compassion, marriage, religion and plain old life. Readers learn and live Joshua's struggles to be a better person in order to contribute to his family's life. But the question is, how does he do it or more so, can he do it? Mainly written in first person, Echoes grabs you right into the 'speaking' character's thoughts and the reader feels as though he/ she's with the characters - living their lives; sharing their joys; crying over their sorrow."

Echoes of the past ring through Rebounding. Revenge and revelation dominate this sequel to Echoes, the first book in this series. "The one who does not show mercy will not be shown mercy." (Prophet Muhammad)

"Rebounding is the second book in the Echoes series. After reading the first novel in the series, I couldn't wait to see what would happen to the characters. What stands out the most for me is how family strength is revealed in Rebounding. I have heard people say that they "laughed and cried" while reading a book. I didn't realize what they were talking about until I read Rebounding. I read Rebounding in just a few sittings. I couldn't put it down."

Brad Adams appears to have it all. A devoted wife. Two intelligent sons. A large house in the suburbs. A successful career. But the death of his mother in a plane crash disturbs his seemingly tranquil existence and sends him into a downward spiral. Unlike his brothers, Brad is unable to put his grief behind him. Instead he enters a world of panic and nightmares. A single incident of rage, brought on by constant stress, destroys all he has worked so hard to build. The pain of his failure leads him to a path of self-destruction which becomes an odyssey as he searches for the peace he has never known.

Turbulence, the third book in the Echoes Series, follows Brad and his family as they confront the most basic of all mysteries-the question of life and death.

How to write out-of-this world Islamic stories. Star Writers is a creative and educational workbook for young and aspiring writers. Star Writers will get your creativity burning bright with helpful tools, easy-to-follow examples, insider's tips & tricks, imaginative suggestions and special sections to note it all down.

"Star Writers, a manual for creative writing written by our late Sister Amatullah Al-Marwani, is one of the most original and refreshing books I've seen for quite some time. Set up as an interactive exploration into how to stimulate an eager young writer's imagination, it offers many lessons to engage our youth in that most noble of pursuits: writing with intellect and flair. I would definitely encourage Muslim parents, and English departments in Islamic schools, to acquire this book for their budding young authors. The simple fact that it is very Islam - proactive in its hints and suggestions, while at the same time written in perfect language for today's youth, calls for its adoption in English curriculums everywhere."

Seventh grade year ended and Rose was resigned to another boring summer missing her Hijab Ez Friends until she met Aunt Zarinah's fourteen year old Muslim African-American niece Keysha and her younger brother Sammie. It took about three seconds for Rose to invite Keysha to become a new Hijab Ez even if Keysha said her membership in the friendship group might be only temporary. Sammie had a chip on his shoulder, was suffering from an identity crisis, and he used his genius IQ to get himself into all kinds of Big Trouble. Keysha told Rose she needed to find a way to help her brother. Rose couldn't wait to get on the Internet and email her Hijab Ez Friends so they could cook up a Sammie PLAN.

Rose's happiness when she learned that some of her Hijab Ez Friends were moving back to her hometown was overshadowed by the loss of contact with her best friend, Camelia, and by a sudden crisis in her own family. It seemed as if Rose's longing for a reunion with Grandma and all her Hijab Ez Friends was not going to happen after all.
